Board selects director

Stuart Baker will assume top job in August

The Haliburton County Board of Education has selected a new director of Education. Stuart Baker of Haliburton was chosen from a short list of five candidates following lengthy interviews with the individuals last Wednesday.

Baker will take over the job that has been held since 1969 by J. Douglas Hodgson, who is retiring at the end of June.

The appointment of Stuart Baker capped a selection process that began last fall, when Hodgson announced his intention to step down. Some 26 people from across the province applied for the position, which is the most senior administrative job within the jurisdiction of the Haliburton County Board.

Baker is presently the principal of Archie Stouffer Elementary School in Minden, a position he has held since 1971, except for a one year stint as vice principal of Haliburton Highlands Senior Elementary School from September, 1979 to June, 1980. Before becoming principal of Archie Stouffer, Baker was principal/teacher at Lakeview Elementary School in Haliburton, a position he assumed in September, 1965. He began his teaching career in 1955 at Scotch Line School in Minden, moving to Lakeview School the next year.

Baker holds a teacher's certificate from Toronto Teachers College, a Bachelor of Arts Degree in economics from Waterloo Lutheran University, and a Master of Education degree in Administration from Queens University. He also holds an Elementary School Principal's Certificate and a Supervisory Officer's Certificate.

Baker will assume his duties as director of education on August 1. Board chairman Bonnie-Lee Berry said J. Douglas Hodgson has agreed to assist Baker during a July transition period, even though the present director officially retires at the end of June.

The position of principal at Archie Stouffer Elementary School will be advertised locally, in keeping with Teachers' Federation requirements, the board chairman said.

Four individuals presently employed by the board are qualified to assume a principalship, she said.

Baker's appointment as director is for a five year term, with a review after the fourth year.

Ideas needed for museum

The newly formed Haliburton County Historical Society wants local councils, service clubs and individuals to come up with proposals on the best location for the Kanawa Canoe collection.

In an open letter to the public in the Letters to the Editor section of this week's Echo, Historical Society chairman Frank Wallace says the group hopes to identify the best location, then work to promote it.

Wallace says the site chosen should be centrally located for the best possible access, be of economic benefit to the greatest number of people, have a favourable environment, be low in cost, and be acceptable to the collection's owner, Kirk Wipper.

Deadline for submitting proposals is May 14, Wallace says.

On May 16, the Society hopes to make a presentation to Haliburton County Council seeking support for a site selection, and a general plan of action. As well, the group will ask for financial support to offset communication and transportation expenses.

Wallace says quick action is needed on the Kanawa question because several other areas have indicated an interest in obtaining the collection.

The Society expects to hold its next public meeting on May 24.

Lions come to Haliburton

Huge parade to be a highlight of weekend

At least 600 members of Lions Clubs from across south central Ontario will begin arriving in the Haliburton area Friday for a weekend convention. Area lodges are expected to be filled to capacity with Lions, their wives and families.

Gord Bennett, president of the Haliburton and District Club, which is hosting the convention, said as many as 1500 people are expected to be in the area as a result of the convention, and it is estimated that the group may spend as much as $300,000 on accommodation and other services provided by businesses in the community.

This lawn chair was about the only thing left to salvage after a lightning strike set a Koshlong Lake cottage on fire Saturday afternoon. Area property owners used portable pumps to try to quell the blaze, but their efforts were in vain. No one was injured in the incident.

Wind damage widespread

Hydro crews struggle to restore service as lines break

An estimated 6000 Haliburton County residents were still without electrical power Tuesday morning as Ontario Hydro crews struggled to cope with downed lines throughout the area.

Winds of up to 100 kilometres an hour howled through the county Monday, toppling trees and causing widespread minor damage to property.

Power interruptions began in mid afternoon Monday as trees were blown down and hydro poles broken by the strain placed on lines.

Minden area manager Cal Wilson said crews concentrated on repairing damage to sub transmission lines first, and service was restored to many areas by 2 a.m. Tuesday.

But a main line feeding Tory Hill, Wilberforce and the Gooderham area remained out Tuesday morning, leaving Hydro customers in those areas without power.

In addition, numerous rural lines were broken by falling trees, and some of these may not be repaired until at least Wednesday, Wilson indicated.

"The situation is not good," he said, noting that strong winds were still "bringing down the odd line" Tuesday morning.

Wilson said a helicopter has been called in to help locate broken lines, and additional crews have arrived from other areas to assist repair operations in the Minden district.

Wilson said conditions "were terrible" Tuesday night as crews worked to repair lines while trees continued to be blown down.

Hydro crews were expected to work until late evening Tuesday, and then continue their efforts to restore power to customers Wednesday.

Loss of electrical power was the most widespread effect of Monday's strong winds, but there was widespread minor property damage as well. Television and radio aerials were bent or broken, and falling tree limbs damaged roofs. Shingles were blown off a portion of the roof at Haliburton Highlands Secondary School, and at the Gordon Neville home on the Parish line, a double garage was blown off its foundation and smashed.

Winds had moderated Tuesday, but were still gusting strongly, posing the threat of further isolated damage.

Lightning causes blaze

Lightning is believed to have started a fire that destroyed a cottage on Koshlong Lake Saturday afternoon.

The cottage burned to the ground despite the efforts of area residents and the Dysart et al fire department, who were called to the scene not long after the fire was discovered.

Neighbouring cottager Ed Gazensky said he saw a flash of lightning and heard a loud bang as a brief but powerful thunderstorm swept over the area early Saturday afternoon. Gazensky realized that the lightning had struck somewhere nearby, but he did not know how close the strike had been until he looked out and discovered that the cottage next door, owned by John Le Menach of Gormley, was on fire.

Gazensky attempted to notify Dysart firemen, but the lightning strike had knocked out telephone service. He drove to Koshlong Marina, where telephones were still working, and turned in the alarm.

Gazensky then went to Camp Wanakita, where he and other volunteers picked up three portable fire pumps and took them to the scene of the blaze. By the time Dysart firemen arrived, Gazensky and the others had the fire under control, but the cottage could not be saved.

No damage estimate was available.

Dysart et al reeve Murray Fearrey spent some time at Curry Motors Saturday morning pumping gas as part of the Thankful Tankful promotion, which raises money for the Easter Seal Society in Ontario. The reeve appeared to enjoy the job.

Minden council

At a meeting Thursday, April 26, Anson, Hindon and Minden council considered the following matters:

Fraser Rogers presented information to council on behalf of his client August Strupp. Council approved in principle Strupp's application to purchase a portion of the shoreline allowance fronting part of Lots 9 and 10, Concession 4 in the Township of Hindon, more particularly described as parts 5, 6, 7, 8 and 19 on unregistered plan prepared by H.C. Bishop dated March 16, 1984 subject to compliance with all regulations and agencies approval.

J.O. Jackson attended council regarding the Minden Curling Club facility. Council agreed in principle with the proposal to establish a Curling Recreation Committee to control the affairs and operation of the Minden Curling Recreation Building.

Council approved in principle a Mr. Cheesman's application to purchase part of the original allowance for road between Lots 15 and 16, Concession 13 in the Township of Minden as well as portions of old highway 530 and the old Peterson Road; subject to compliance with all regulations and agencies approval.

Council will erect a sign at the mouth of the Beaver Creek restricting motor boats from entering the creek.

A by-law will be prepared to authorize payment to the Planning Advisory Committee members excluding municipal staff of $25 per regular monthly day meeting effective January 1, 1984.

By-law 84-11, a by-law to authorize a grant of easement to Ontario Hydro over part of Lot 18, Concession II in the Township of Minden, was passed.

Haliburton County Warden Lyle McKnight, upper centre, was on hand at the Haliburton Legion Saturday morning to welcome delegates to the zone convention, which brought close to 300 Legionnaires and their families to the community last weekend.

Dysart et al reeve Murray Fearrey also spoke brief words of welcome to the group before they got down to the business portion of the convention.

Sherborne et al council minutes

A regular meeting of Sherborne et al council was held March 26 in Dorset, and the following matters were considered:

Dave McDonald reported to council. The responsibility of "towing of vehicles" was discussed and notices are to be prepared to notify owners where said vehicle has been taken once removed by the Municipal Law Enforcement Officer.

Additional complaints were received in respect to the approved fly-in outpost cabin on Rockaway Lake, Livingstone Twp. Letters from Mr. Mitten and Mr. VanStrepren were forwarded by the clerk to the Ministry of Natural Resources who had approved such commercial operation under Land Use Permit.

Council accepted the quotation from Port-A-Room Manufacturing Limited to supply, deliver and install one only 12 foot wide by 32 foot long office to foundation by owner (municipality) in the amount of $12,500 which includes R20 in the roof and floor subject to the final drawings to be approved.

Roy Marson of Timbertrail and his son John spoke with council and the Chief Building official, Dave McDonald in regard to current zoning on Timbertrail. Various sections of Restricted Area By-Law #839 were given to interpretation and a better understanding of the intent of the by-law.

Marilyn Jarvis, councillor declared a pecuniary interest to the next item on the agenda dealing with West Gate Hunt Camp Limited. Mrs. Jarvis refrained from all discussions and decisions.

Glen Jarvis presented council with a map of his property indicating current uses on the property. This was in preliminary preparation to correct zoning discrepancies under Restricted Area By-Law #839. The clerk was instructed to prepare a draft letter to be sent to John McDermott, planner for Totter Sims Hubicki Associates Ltd. for review and comment. Mr. Jarvis was to approve of such draft.

Delbert Page, Road Superintendent, reported to council. Page is still looking for lands either Crown or Privately owned to be acquired for the re-location of the stock pile of winter sand/salt currently located behind the Municipal Building.

In respect to a decrease in subsidy dollars from MTC for 1984 Road and Bridge Grant Allocations to this municipality, council approved of draft letter prepared to be sent to MTC.

Page presented council with the breakdown as to expenditures in the 1984 Road Budget.

Council for the Township of Sherborne, McClintock, Livingstone, Lawrence and Nightingale approved the 1984 Road Budget estimates as follows: Construction: Roads - expenditures $9,600; subsidy $4,800. Maintenance: Bridges and Culverts - expenditures $1,400; subsidy $700. Roadside - expenditures $6,000; subsidy $3,000. Hardtop - expenditures $2,000; subsidy $1,000. Loose top - expenditures $20,000; subsidy $10,000. Winter Control - expenditures $17,000; subsidy $8,500. Safety devices - expenditures nil; subsidy nil. Miscellaneous - expenditures $2,000; subsidy $1,000. Overhead - Expenditures $50,000; subsidy $25,000. Total for Maintenance: Expenditures - $98,400; Subsidy - $49,200. Grand total for Construction and Maintenance: Expenditures - $108,000; Subsidy - $54,000. Page had estimated in the past that the diversion planned for the section of road on Fletcher Lake Road at Buck's Bay would be approximately $160,000. It is hoped that this re-construction could be done in phases under supplemental monies from MTC and a portion raised under tax levy in the ensuing years.

Council requested Ministry of Transportation and Communications for Supplementary Allocation of Subsidy monies in the amount of $20,000 to subsidize Phase 1 (Fletcher Lake Road - Buck's Bay) $40,000.

Acid rain battle not lost

Local councils urged to play an active role

Local councils have an important role to play in pressuring governments and industry to tackle the acid rain problem, municipal representatives from Muskoka and Haliburton have been told.

The consensus of a panel discussion at a local government workshop on acid precipitation held in Bracebridge last Friday, was that "grass roots" concern about dying lakes will continue to be a key factor in prompting abatement legislation.

Bracebridge Mayor Jim Lange told an audience of municipal representatives, including Stanhope deputy reeve Harry Davis, Lutterworth reeve Ron Gambell, and Dysart et al councillor Dorothy Baker, that local municipalities should take "a long range view" of the problem. In particular, he said, councils should press for an ongoing program to educate young people about the nature and extent of acid precipitation and its causes.

Parry Sound-Muskoka MP Stan Darling said local councils can be an important pressure group with a voice that is heard by other levels of government.

Darling also suggested that area residents should use every opportunity to make it clear to American visitors that acid rain presents a substantial threat to the ecosystem in this part of Ontario. Since 70 percent of the pollution resulting in acidic precipitation "comes from our beloved neighbours to the south", American co-operation in abatement legislation is crucial, Darling said.

"We've got to get the message across to them," he noted.

Dr. Tom Brydges, head of the provincial environment ministry's Limnology and Toxicity branch, and a well known expert on the acid precipitation problem, agreed with Darling's statement that American support for abatement efforts is vital.

Brydges said "grass roots" concern is more important than any data that scientists can present. This was made abundantly clear when American journalists toured Haliburton and Muskoka in 1981 and 1982, Brydges said. At the time of the visit there was genuine skepticism about the extent of the problem, and about the public's understanding of it. But when the journalists struck out on their own to interview people in area communities they were surprised and impressed by the public's knowledge of the problem, and the degree of their concern. The journalists' articles focussed on the public perception, and brought the message that Canadians are worried to a large and diverse American audience, Brydges noted. Acid precipitation will not be reduced substantially until people on both sides of the border say "we want the problem solved," Brydges said.

Michael Perley, executive director of the Canadian Coalition on Acid Rain, urged local councils to support spending public funds to help industries reduce their emissions. Early in the day, Perley held a press conference in which he released the results of a Gallup poll showing that the majority of Canadians favour the use of tax money to assist industries such as Inco in modernizing their operation and cutting sulphur dioxide pollution. The poll question asking if the province, the federal government and Inco should share modernization and abatement costs equally, drew a positive response from 65 percent of the sample. Only 17 percent of the respondents felt that Inco should pay more or all of the cost of cutting its sulphur dioxide emissions.

Perley also unveiled the coalition's proposed regulation which would require Inco to reduce its emissions by 86.4 percent in a two phase program stretching over a five to nine year period. Compliance with the proposed regulation would require plant modernization, but would not result in any job losses, Perley said.

Others who spoke at the day-long conference included provincial environment minister Andy Brandt, and federal environment minister Charles Caccia.

Several courses eliminated

A dozen courses will be dropped from the list offered at Haliburton Highlands Secondary School next year because too few students chose them. The board of education approved the deletions by resolution last Tuesday night after it heard information from principal Dale Robinson.

The courses that will no longer be offered at HHSS are: third year

Drama, fourth year Creative Writing, a year one Geography section; a year three Geology course; one credit second year Drafting; one credit second year Machine Shop; one credit second year Electrical; year three Electronics; year two Business Machines; year three Consumer Studies; year three Art; and a special education Man in Society program.

Michael Perley, executive director of the Canadian Coalition on Acid Rain, was one of the participants in an acid precipitation workshop in Bracebridge last Friday. Perley released the results of a Gallup poll which indicates the public would support using tax money to help companies reduce air pollution.

Minden may try a petting zoo

A marshy area between the Agnes Jamieson Gallery and the Minden Community Centre would be an ideal place to create a waterfowl sanctuary, Anson, Hindon and Minden council has been told.

Wally Davidson, curator of the Riverview Park Zoo in Peterborough, said the area could be dredged out to create a pond and natural habitat for water birds such as ducks, geese and swans.

Davidson was invited to council after deputy reeve Ed Pergolas proposed the possibility of using land between Bobcaygeon Road and the community centre as a deer sanctuary.

The Peterborough zoo official was quick to point out the pitfalls of that concept. He said the land is too wet to be suitable for deer and other large animals. But he noted that it would be ideal for a waterfowl sanctuary. Davidson said a small pond could be dredged out and a boardwalk built to give the public access to one end of the water body. If the rest of the area was left in its natural state, it would provide a suitable breeding area for birds, according to Davidson. He said he would be willing to provide the municipality with some species of water birds while others, such as Canada geese, could be enticed to stay at the site through feeding.

Davidson also suggested that if council wants to pursue the idea of a small zoo as a tourist attraction, it should start "very quietly", since zoos with exotic animals are costly to operate and complex to create and administer. He said a good compromise would be to operate a small "petting zoo", using domestic animals such as sheep, goats and cows, which might be obtained from area farmers. The zoo could operate during the summer months only, using student help, and the animals could be returned to farmers at the end of each tourist season. Council appeared enthusiastic about Davidson's suggestions, and is expected to give them further consideration at upcoming meetings.

Theatre production set

On May 10, 11, and 12, the Highlands Little Theatre will present Moss Hart's and George S. Kaufman's scatty comedy "You Can't Take it With You".

This production, directed by Maureen O'Hara and held at the Haliburton Highlands Secondary School, is set around the Sycamore family who seem mad, but it is not long before it becomes obvious that if they are mad, then the rest of the world is madder. That may be hard to believe though when the audience learns of some of the strange activities of various members of the household - manufacturing fireworks in the basement, running a printing press in the parlour, or Grandpa's interview with the tax collector when he states that he doesn't believe in tax and therefore won't pay. Then there is the maid Rheba and her friend Donald; Essie the would-be ballerina; an inebriated actress and a Russian Grand Duchess who works as a waitress.

Since this is the group's 10th production, they have decided to make it extra special.

All profits from the show will be donated to the Toronto Hospital for Sick Children.

New teachers to be hired

The Haliburton County Board of Education has approved the hiring of two additional teachers for Haliburton Highlands Secondary School. The decision came last Tuesday night, following a committee-of-the-whole discussion of staffing needs with principal Dale Robinson. In all, five new teachers will be hired for the 1984-85 school year at HHSS, three to replace present staff who will be on leave next year, and two to meet extra demands placed on the system by implementation of new provincial regulations spelled out in the Ontario Schools, Intermediate and Senior (OSIS) document.

One of the two additional teachers will be required to meet increased enrollment in French, which becomes mandatory credit under OSIS regulations. The second additional teacher will meet staffing needs resulting from an anticipated jump in enrollment at the high school next fall, as a large Grade 8 class enters Grade 9. Enrollment at HHSS was 603 students on September 30 last year, but that figure is expected to increase to between 620 and 630 students when the 1984-85 school year begins.

The two additional teachers will give HHSS full and half time staff of 40.5 teachers next fall.

Board conducts business

A regular meeting of the Haliburton County Board of Education was held in the Board Office on Tuesday, April 24, 1984 commencing at 8:00 p.m. Present were: Bonnie-Lee Berry, Chairman of the Board; Ross Anderson, Lynn Craig-myle, Kelly Crick, LeRoy Eager, Julie Hunter, Dorothy Kinsman, Linda Mumford, Cheryl Murdoch, Leonard Salvatori, Brian Sisson, Nancy Stinson, George Simmons, David Villard, Paul Wilson, J. Douglas Hodgson, and Stanley Baker. Also present were: Len Pizze, Haliburton County Echo; and Mike Shirley, The Times, Minden.

The Board adjourned to a Committee-of-the-Whole for the purpose of discussing personnel at the Haliburton Highlands Secondary School and hearing a report from the search for a Director committee.

When the Board rose from the Committee-of-the-Whole and reported back, it was resolved to increase the staffing at the Haliburton Highlands Secondary School from 38.5 teachers to 40.5 teachers for the school year beginning September, 1984.

The Board approved the 1984-85 "Course Deletions" for the secondary school as submitted by Dale Robinson. The course deletions are as follows: ADA340 Drama, EWR-450 Creative Writing, GEA140 Geography, SGL340 Geology, TDG-240 Drafting - 1 credit, TMS240 Machine - 1 credit, TEA240 Electrical - 1 credit, TEE340 Electronics, BBM240 Business Machines, BBS-340 Consumer Studies, AVF340 Art, CMS430 Man in Society (Special Education).

Douglas Mitchell was appointed to the Major Headship of the Business Department, Haliburton Highlands Secondary School, effective September, 1984, for two years, during the leave of absence of Alan Oakley.

The best place

The chairman of the newly formed Haliburton County Historical Society has challenged local councils, service clubs and citizens to come up with suggestions on where the Kanawa Canoe Museum should be located. Frank Wallace wants people to pick out a suitable site and explain its advantages. The aim is to identify the best possible site, and then to work toward relocating the collection in a better, more accessible building.

One possibility is that the present facilities adjacent to Camp Kandalore could be improved. This might be the cheapest option, but when all factors are considered, it is unlikely to be the best one. The existing museum buildings would be almost impossible to fireproof, and they are not conducive to the controlled conditions of temperature and humidity which are essential if the collection is to be preserved for posterity.

It seems probable, then, that the best option would be to build a new structure to house the collection. Where should it be constructed? There is a strong case to be made for Haliburton, and specifically, for a site in the park area overlooking Head Lake. Haliburton is the business, population and cultural centre of Haliburton County, as well as its approximate geographical centre. The existing park development is under-utilized, and there is certainly room for a museum structure on the property. Head Lake itself is an appropriate setting for a canoe museum, since it is the top lake in a chain that stretches many miles, and could be used for demonstration and instructional purposes. As well, a canoe museum would be an important adjunct to the Rails' End Gallery, and with careful planning could be linked by some kind of ferry service to the museum in Glebe Park.

In short, there is a good deal of merit in selecting Haliburton as the location for a substantial museum to house the Kanawa collection. The project will not be quickly or easily accomplished, but it deserves to be pursued.

Being heard

Even though we live in a democracy, there is precious little evidence that policy makers heed the concerns of 'ordinary' people. So it was reassuring to hear politicians like Parry Sound-Muskoka MP Stan Darling and scientists like Dr. Tom Brydges of the provincial environment ministry emphasize that "grass roots" opinion has a key role to play in combatting the acid precipitation problem. Speaking at a day-long seminar for municipal politicians last Friday, both Darling and Brydges stressed that a concerned public who speak out will help ensure that abatement legislation is passed and enforced.

Both men were quick to point out that the key to saving local lakes rests squarely in the hands of the United States, and so far they have been very reluctant to use it. But there are positive signs, and some of them have come about as a direct result of local citizens' knowledge of the problem. According to Brydges, American journalists who visited Haliburton and Muskoka two years ago were skeptical about presentations made by scientists and government officials. The journalists suspected that the scientists were spouting if not outright propaganda, then at least a one sided interpretation of the facts. But when the newspaper and magazine writers headed off to talk to 'the man in the street', they were amazed to discover that local people not only know a good deal about what acid precipitation is and how it forms, but are deeply concerned about its effects on rivers, lakes and forests. And that concern, expressed through local councils and pressure groups such as the Canadian Coalition on Acid Rain, can tip the balance in favour of effective abatement legislation.

Letters to the Editor

To The Editor:
The following is an Open Letter to the residents of Haliburton County:

As the newly selected chairman of the Board of Directors of the Haliburton County Historical Society, I would like to ask for your support. We need you -- the whole county does.

The first major purpose of the society is to agree upon a new site where the world class canoe display can be more permanently and adequately housed. I have recently spent an evening with Dr. Kirk Whipper, the canoe collection's founder and present guiding spirit. He agreed that even before negotiations can begin, all of Haliburton County should get behind one location and then promote it as best as possible.

It is with this in mind that the Board of Directors of the Haliburton County Historical Society would like to throw out a challenge to all of the county's municipalities, service clubs, groups or concerned individuals to present in writing a detailed proposal on where, if possible, the best future location of a proper museum should be, to house, maintain and display the canoes. All proposals should be mailed to Frank Wallace, Haliburton County Historical Society, c/o Haliburton Highlands Secondary School, P.O. Box 390, Haliburton, Ontario, K0M 1S0 by Monday, May 14, 1984. It is the Board's hope to select the best site from the received applications and on June 1, 1984, make the decision public in a detailed report. The criteria for picking the best site will include the following: The site should:

- be centrally located to provide access to the maximum number of people from all directions, vacationing, passing through and living in the county;
- be of economical benefit to the greatest number of people from our county;
- have a favourable environment and be low in cost; and
- be favourable to Dr. Whipper.

The Board feels that it has to move quickly for a variety of reasons. Among them, Dr. Whipper is not just considering Haliburton County alone as the future site of the canoes. Already Ottawa, Toronto, Peterborough, Port Hope, Niagara Falls, Lindsay and Brantford have expressed an interest in being the site of the future canoe museum.

We quickly have to establish momentum and countywide support.

If we can be successful at selecting and uniting behind a site countywide, it is the Board's feeling that we can in conjunction with Dr. Whipper and his Board of Management, and provincial and federal civil servants and politicians, successfully assist in getting an appropriate museum built here in our county. Already moves are being made to establish contact with the appropriate people, by the Board.

If all goes well the Board intends to make a presentation to County Council on May 16 asking for its support for the Board's site selection, overall general plan and for some financial assistance to offset some individual Board members' communication and transportation expenses and to help offset future operating costs of the new museum on an annual basis.

In the interval our Board members are willing, when possible, to meet and to talk to community groups interested in knowing more about the project and who might want to possibly help us.

Based on my discussions with Dr. Whipper and his statements made in the past to the effect that he would like to see the museum stay in Haliburton County, the Board feels that we have a good shot at being the one main centre for the collection as opposed to our larger neighbours throughout Ontario.

Excerpts from The Report from the Haliburton County Citizens for the Kanawa Canoe Museum, July 1982, adequately outline the overwhelming benefits that would come from keeping the Canoe Museum in Haliburton County.

- 1) With the Canoe museum, the Haliburton Highlands provide the largest concentration of canoe routes and opportunities on the Canadian Shield within easy driving distance of Ontario's major metropolitan areas. Canoe enthusiasts will flock to the museum.
- 2) The large number of children's camps in the area teach canoeing as part of their programs and could use the museum as a resource centre.
- 3) Schools in Haliburton County and beyond would make use of the museum as a resource centre.
- 4) A number of local residents are knowledgeable in canoe construction and could be an important resource base for the museum to draw on.
- 5) Lacking a strong industrial base, the local economy is dependent on tourism. It would greatly benefit from a showcase attraction (with

Let's roll out the welcome mat and get ready to celebrate the 1984 District A-16 Lions' Convention which will be coming to Haliburton this weekend, Friday, Saturday and Sunday, May 4, 5 and 6. The Haliburton and Area Lions Club have, along with other interested citizens, been preparing for this big weekend for well over a year and now the time has arrived to carry on with the festivities. Latest word has it that 50 Lions Clubs from all parts of Ontario will be here for the convention and we are proud to say that we have the facilities here plus the beautiful scenery and fresh air to go with it. One of the Lions spokesmen told me that it is estimated that well over 500 delegates will attend, bringing about $120,000 worth of business to the area. Word has it that you have never seen a parade until you have seen a Lions Club Parade. I believe this to be true. A few years ago I happened to be in Peterborough one weekend when the Lions Convention was being held in that city. It was a big parade and one that I will remember for some time. An official of the Lions Club told us that the parade to be held in Haliburton will feature over 50 floats and it will be three miles long and it could take over two hours to pass any given point. Let's make it a point to go out of our way this weekend to assure our visitors of a really enjoyable time.

On Saturday, April 28, family and friends of Mrs. Florence Hunter met at the Haliburton Senior Citizens' Apartments to celebrate her 90th birthday. Her son and two daughters (Jack Hunter, Mrs. Ruth Phillips and Mrs. Roxy Carter), eight of her nine grandchildren and nine of her 16 great grandchildren attended from Haliburton, Peterborough, Toronto, Elmira, Ottawa and Atlanta, Georgia.

Mrs. Hunter, who moved to Haliburton in 1934, had been honoured at a dinner last month given by the Royal Canadian Legion Branch 129 for her work over the years with the Ladies' Auxiliary. The Legion dinner had also been attended by Reeve Murray Fearrey, who presented Mrs. Hunter with a birthday certificate from Dysart et al; John Eakins, who brought birthday greetings and plaques from Queen's Park; and Bill Scott, who presented certificates from Prime Minister Trudeau and the leader of the Opposition. Since then, birthday messages have also been received from the Governor-General of Canada and the Lieutenant-Governor of Ontario.

Nurses Week is from May 6 - 12. Nurses are people who care. They have skills and knowledge to help you in hospitals, nursing homes, public health clinics and in homes for the aged. Nurses are highly trained professionals whose job is to care for you. Remember to support the nurses in your community during Nurses Week, May 6 - 12.

We have noticed that several local citizens who spent the winter months in the sunny south have returned to Haliburton. Some of these people are Mr. and Mrs. Albert LaRue, Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Leighton, Mr. and Mrs. Phurness Watt. Cliff Dawson returned home on Saturday following a motor trip with his brother to British Columbia. Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Griffin of Scarborough were visitors here on Saturday. Rick Bain was a visitor to Lindsay last Saturday and to Ottawa on Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Ken Wilson returned home on the weekend after spending a vacation in England.

The Haliburton Curling Club have set Saturday, May 12 as the date for their annual banquet which will once again be held at Deer Lodge. Tickets are available at the Bank of Montreal or Haliburton Lumber.

Workmen are still busy in Minden putting in new sidewalks on many of the village's side streets. They were badly needed and the wide sidewalks now in place on the main street are very impressive.

The village of Haliburton was a very busy place over the weekend as 400 Legionnaires and their wives were in town for the Royal Canadian Legion District 'F' Convention. Every place you looked you could see Legion members in view. A weekend like this really stimulates the local economy. On Sunday the Legion parade was really impressive with three pipe bands on hand to supply the music for the large parade.

The Township of Stanhope are holding a Logo Contest which is now in progress. They are inviting proposals for a 'logo' for the Township. A $100 prize will be awarded for the 'logo' chosen. Entries are being received until May 8, 1984.

Just a reminder here that Kindergarten Registration will be held at the Archie Stouffer Elementary School this coming Friday, May 4 from 9 a.m. to 12 noon and 1 p.m. to 3 p.m. Children must be five by December 31, 1984. Please bring proof of birth and immunization records.

Let's not forget that the annual Kinsmen Home and Vacation Show is scheduled for the Haliburton Arena on Friday, Saturday and Sunday, June 8, 9 and 10. I understand that space for the display booths is selling at a fast rate. Walter Thomas, who is selling the space at the show, tells me that if you phone him at 457-1996 he will do his best to accommodate you.

Thanks this week to Kenneth G. Austin of Dryden, Ontario who was kind enough to submit this most interesting photo showing the mill and the dam to the right of it at Gooderham in the year 1903. According to a section of Nila Reynolds' book "In Quest of Yesterday" the original timber licences were issued in this area to Mossom Boyd, J.R. Rodgers and W.A. Scott. As was the custom of the times, the first quality pine was ruthlessly stripped from Gooderham's hills and plains until 1903 saw the last of it driven down the Irondale branch of the Burnt River to the Kinnmount Junction which drains the township. By 1912, only .5% of the coniferous forest remained. Excepting the 20.7% hardwood growth in the southeast corner, most of the township's timber was classified as old burn type.

From the Chamber

We welcome two new members to the Chamber of Commerce. Shakonna Kennels, R.R. #1, Kinnmount, owned by Steve and Val Loughheed. They operate a boarding kennel and also breed and train Huskies. They about 30 Huskies, that are a combination of purebred Siberian Huskies and cross breeds. They are relatively new in the sled racing circuit, however in the past six years they have kept upgrading their breeding and training.

On January 7 and 8, 1984 they placed second in the unlimited class at Bourget, Ontario. This race was 24 miles over two days. Placing second in this race proved to the Loughheeds that their efforts are paying off and they feel this is a start of many good things to come.

Sled dog racing can be a great spectator sport for the whole family and is growing in popularity in Ontario and Quebec. Haliburton Highlands is an ideal location for dog racing.

Valerie Loughheed would be happy to discuss dog sled racing with interested groups, with the thought in mind of establishing a race in Haliburton County.

In addition to training and participating in dog sled racing, the Loughheeds run a boarding kennel with seven runs. If you are looking for a good place to leave your dog while you go away on vacation, phone the Loughheeds at 286-1119.

The Haliburton Highlands Hospitality Training Centre is our second new member this week.

The Hospitality Training Centre is a unique and interesting concept in training. It is the only program in existence that trains employees for entry level positions in the hospitality industry. The program is 18 weeks in length and is comprised of Life Skills, Hands-on Training and Placement.

Rebecca Parkes is managing director, and oversees the administration of the program as well as teaching the life skills.

Patricia Burns is technical instructor. She teaches bartending and cooking as well as housekeeping.

Karen Pockett is office administrator. She handles the clerical duties at the Training Centre, but also does the bookkeeping and budgeting for the project.

The newest addition to the team is Scott Hammond. Scott teaches waitress/waitering as well as sharing the cooking instruction with Pat Burns.

There are 12 students presently enrolled at the Hospitality Training Centre. Previous experience is not a prerequisite; however a sincere and keen interest to work in the hospitality industry is.

Dray Bonyun is pursuing a career in waitressing. He spent the first six years in South Carolina before moving to Haliburton.

Leslie Daniel is from Orillia and taking the waitressing course.

Susan Davis lives in Carnarvon area and is enrolled in the waitressing course.

Dan Hayes is presently living in Haliburton and is taking the kitchen helper course.

Greg Kennedy lives in Haliburton Village and is taking the bartending course.

James Lawr lives in the Stanhope area and is taking the kitchen helper course.

Karen Upton has lived all her life in the Haliburton area and is taking the waitressing course.

Marianne Lindsay is living just outside of West Guilford and is enrolled in the waitressing program.

Erin McGuire is living in the Haliburton area and is taking the waitressing course.

Hans Pripp has lived all his life in the Haliburton area. He is learning the cooking portion of the program in hopes of obtaining a full-time job he will enjoy.

Linda Roberts is living in the Township of Stanhope and is pursuing a career in the bartending aspect of the program.

Jane Smith is originally from Pickering and presently living in Haliburton and enrolled in the bartending course.

Another big convention is coming to the Highlands this weekend. Over 600 Lions have registered so far. You can plan to welcome them at a monstrous parade Saturday morning at 10:00 a.m. in the village of Haliburton.

"You Can't Take It With You" is being presented by the Highlands Little Theatre Thursday, Friday and Saturday, May 10, 11 and 12 at the Haliburton Highlands Secondary School at 8:00 p.m. sharp. This is their 10th production and all profits are being donated to Toronto's Hospital for Sick Children.

the right promotion) such as a world class museum containing outstanding canoes from throughout Canada and around the world.

The Board is seriously concerned that this area, which is in desperate need of attractions, cannot afford to lose such an important drawing card. Developed to its fullest potential in Haliburton County, the Kanawa International Canoe Museum could be the key to the future economic viability of the county.

If you would like to have a say in keeping this magnificent collection in Haliburton County and providing input on how it might be set up, we would appreciate your support. Come on out and join the Haliburton County Historical Society. Our next meeting will be held on May 24 and the location announced in the press. Membership fees are $12 a year, and may be mailed to Godfrey Tyler, c/o Frank Wallace, Haliburton Highlands Secondary School, P.O. Box 390, Haliburton, Ontario, K0M 1S0.

It is not too late. We need you -- the whole county does. Let's do it together.

To The Editor:

Leo Dobrzensky's letter of April 18 is right on. Also, one wonders why our beautiful background is being spoiled for a senseless Sky Slider. Had a survey been taken it certainly would have indicated the project is not feasible. Perhaps they expect the Government to bail them out. Also, what need is there to erode our mountain to build apartments?

Another item is the careless littering that occurs. Walk from the Gallery a half mile and see the repulsive debris. It's time a charge (refundable) was made for soft drink cans and containers for fast foods, milk shakes, etc. taken from the premises. At least a 10 cent fee would subsidize a pick-up and provide employment for some ambitious person.

Yours truly,
David Burten

Stories of research on animal intelligence have always caught my attention. Part of the reason is that the experiments conducted often border on the bizarre. It's not hard to imagine Dr. Frankenstein at work. And there's no doubt that laboratory animals are sometimes abused in the process.

But I suspect what really keeps me reading, with endless fascination, is the deeply ingrained notion that some unbreachable gulf separates human intelligence and ingenuity from animal instinct and blind habit.

Relentlessly, almost species by species, my

Report from Parliament

By Bill Scott M.P.

In the Throne Speech last December, the government finally recognized that youth unemployment is a real problem in our society. They allocated $1 billion to a Youth Opportunity Fund to assist young Canadians to acquire new skills and in finding jobs in the private, voluntary and public sectors. In the February 15 budget, they added another $150 million to this program.

Why is this necessary? Well, despite spending by all government levels of approximately $11.5 million per day on reducing youth unemployment, the unemployment rate for those aged 15 to 24 has been slightly over 18.5% for some time now. This group now comprises about 37% of the unemployed in Canada, although they represent only about one quarter of the population. In fact, if you consider those who have given up looking for jobs because there is no work available, and this is quite common in Victoria-Haliburton, youth unemployment makes up over 40% of Canada's unemployed. This high rate of youth unemployment persists despite the fact that in January, 1984 there were 80,000 fewer people in the 15 to 24 age group than there were in January, 1983, and it is expected to drop another 90,000 by January, 1985.

Until our economy fully recovers, extra measures must be taken by this government to face the critical challenge of youth unemployment. Some suggestions in this direction are as follows:

- Create employment tax credits to encourage youth employment.
- Put greater emphasis on training and retraining programs for youth.
- Make greater use of the Career Access and Apprenticeship Programs.
- Make better use of UIC funds to develop long-term employment.
- Improve the services and counselling ability available at Canada Employment Centres.
- Consult with the provinces on better methods of delivery of retraining programs.
- Encourage community-based entrepreneurial development to assist youth and others wishing to start new businesses in economically depressed regions.
- "Aid to Workers in Declining Industries", a study commissioned by the Ontario Economic Council which was released on April 23, recognizes that retraining is just as important for all workers. The study suggested that governments at all levels should put more emphasis on retraining displaced workers rather than continually propping up businesses with no hope of ever becoming successful. The recommendations of the study, if implemented, would provide:

1. Increased aid to relocate workers that would cover all moving expenses, including capital losses from the sale of a home in a single-industry town.
2. Government loans that would be similar to student loans, but apply to training programs as well.
3. Increased living allowances for laid-off workers studying at institutions.
4. A sliding scale of wage subsidies that would rise during a recession to encourage firms to keep their trainees on staff.

These proposals would, I believe, be of great assistance to those in the 15 to 24 age bracket, as they are generally the first affected by layoffs and least able to afford training or re-training programs. It is up to the federal government to show that it has a real interest in this problem by implementing the recommendations it now has at its disposal.

Forest walk planned

From the Minden office of the Ministry of Natural Resources

National Forest Week is scheduled each year during the first full week in May. Its primary objective is to focus attention on the importance of managing Canada's forests wisely for present as well as future needs. The 1984 theme is "Tomorrow's Forests...Today's Challenge". The Ministry of Natural Resources will be observing National Forest Week through special activities to be held in each of its 47 districts throughout the province.

Minden District has made plans to have a "Field Day" on Saturday, May 12 at the Somerville Tract of the Victoria County Agreement Forest to observe the occasion. Walking trails have been established through pine plantations and natural hardwood stands - these areas provide a representation of the "new forest", as well as some interesting "food for thought" concerning its potential benefits.

Visitors will be provided with a pamphlet which will enable a self guided tour...at a self guided pace. The pamphlet will provide information on various points of interest which are identified along the trails, and it is available upon request from the Minden District Office for people who wish to walk these trails earlier in the week. But on Saturday, May 12, staff will be positioned at various points on the trails to give information on such subjects as tree identification, silviculture, wood measurement, chain saw safety, and forest inventory. It is also planned to have a demonstration of a fire pump

THE HALIBURTON COUNTY ECHO AND MINDEN RECORDER

Northern Lights

By VIRGINIA MUENZEL

My husband missed his calling. He should have opened up his own junk yard. I never knew anyone could get so much pleasure out of going to the dumps.

Years ago, we used to go to the dumps like all the other cottagers to see if we could spot some bears. These days, the dumps have taken on a whole new perspective. Now they have become his favourite hunting ground. And I don't mean for animals.

He has far richer game in mind. A pump off an old washer. Shelves from a discarded stove or refrigerator. Empty-seven fan belts in assorted sizes. Pieces of sheet metal or fencing. Heating ducts. Hunks of wood. The list goes on and on.

He likes the dumps so well, he volunteers to take other people's garbage just so he can squeeze in another visit. I guess you could call him a "Junk Junkie".

It's gotten so bad, that it doesn't pay to make him clean out the basement or the back end of the barn. He'll only come back from the dump with bigger and better stuff than he left with.

He's very logical about the whole thing. "After all," he says, "look how much it would cost if I had to buy all those things new." I had to concede that he was right. Last summer the fan belt on the lawn mower broke. He marched into the basement saying he'd have it fixed in a jiffy. Half an hour later, he took off for the store. When he returned, I asked him what he needed. He rather sheepishly replied, "a fan belt, I didn't have the right size."

Once last spring, we dropped off our trash on the way to town. Suddenly, my eyes glazed over, my heart started pounding, and I heard myself say "Look at that neat metal cabinet. Is there room for it in the trunk?" I don't go there anymore.

In the southern states of Florida, Georgia and Alabama one may find various greens growing in the dead of winter, collards, turnip greens, and cabbage. However, the more exotic cabbages, bok choy, chinese and savoy must still be purchased in the super market. They do make a change from the more usual cabbage recipes and their lovely green can liven any meal.

Bubbling Cabbage

1 medium savoy cabbage chopped coarsely
1 cup lemon-lime carbonated beverage
3 tbslp butter melted
5 anise seeds crushed
salt, pepper

Combine all but butter in large skillet, cover and cook 8-10 minutes until cabbage is tender. Add butter, toss and serve. 6 servings.

Bok Choy Broccoli Stir Fry

2 tbslp oil
½ tsp salt
1 bok choy
1 onion sliced
1½ tsp sugar
1 broccoli
1 tbslp freshly grated ginger root
2 cloves garlic crushed
2 tbslp lemon juice

Pour oil in wok or large skillet, heat 2 minutes. Add onion, ginger, garlic and salt. Stir fry 2 minutes. Add broccoli flowerettes, bok choy, coarsely chopped. Fry 1 minute. Add lemon and sugar. Stir fry until crisp tender. 6 servings.

Sauerkraut salad

2 cans kraut drained
½ green pepper chopped
pimento
2 cups celery chopped
½ onion chopped
2 cups sugar
¾ cup vinegar

Boil sugar and vinegar together. Pour over combined vegetables. Cool. Then refrigerate overnight. Liquid will be thicker when cold.

John Miller and Nancy Robichaud teamed up in a Broadway musical number during the Festival of Fun last Wednesday night at HHSS. The community event raised funds for the Association for Children with Learning Disabilities, Haliburton Chapter.

The Easter holiday is over, here at Hyland Crest. Some went out to dinner, some had special guests. I was lucky I guess you could say, a winner. I had some of my children with me for both lunch and dinner. In the chapel service Sunday night we had no one with music to play, but we had a nice service anyway. We had a tape of a lady singing which we enjoyed very much. Rev. John gave the Easter message; he really has the touch.

Our girls all passed the nursing course they were taking this year. Some of the things they taught them sound really queer. They say there is an anvil and hammer inside your ear. No wonder we can sometimes hear a ringing really loud and clear.

Our sympathy from all here to nurse Bowron, for the loss of her brother.

The ladies were working in the craft room Monday afternoon. Some were knitting afghans, others knitting socks. Mary Oliver was hemming a quilt which will be ready soon.

Barbara Carpenter got the new granddaughter she was hoping for. Congratulations mother and daughter, and grandmother.

Doris has taken off for a week's holiday and Linda has taken over while Doris is away. Movies Monday night were "Angus", "Vegetable Gardening", and "Hill Men County".

Tuesday morning Rev. John Phillips of Haliburton Anglican church, along with his assistant, Julie Kennedy, were here. They had a very interesting service in the chapel. Quite a number were there. Julie read the scripture lesson and also led in prayer. Rev. Phillips said,

"Many have a cross to bear."

Tuesday afternoon many residents played the quiz game, down in the auditorium. When the game was over the B team had won.

Tuesday night Fred Ballard and Gordon Ruttle entertained us grandly, playing Shall We Gather at the River, and McNamara's Band.

Wednesday night, Doris Robertson, the Hyland bus did-run, taking some of the Hyland Crest residents to Haliburton, to the Festival of Fun. They said it was a really good show, making some feel

Festival of Fun a success

Chris and Ray Johnson entertained the audience with gospel music.

Maggie and Susan Milne were 'the cat's meow' at the Festival of Fun Wednesday night.

'Oh, how we could harmonize' sang this newly formed barbershop quartet at the Festival of Fun last Wednesday. One of the highlights of the show,

Scottish dancing was a crowd pleaser at the Festival of Fun last Wednesday night, as local entertainers volunteered their talents to help raise money for children with learning disabilities. A large crowd was on hand at HHSS to take in the show, which is an annual event in Haliburton.

The eighth annual Festival of Fun once again showcased local talent last Wednesday night, and judging from the response of an audience of about 200 people, there are some skillful entertainers in the area.

Luke Schell acted as master of ceremonies for the evening, and he did the job well, coping with a balky microphone and keeping the show moving at a brisk pace.

Opening the show was the Haliburton Legion Pipe Band, along with Scottish Country Dancers and Highlands Dancers, who drew appreciative applause.

Maggie, Susan and Jim Milne were next on the program, with an amusing number entitled 'The Cat's Meow'.

Greg Hamilton displayed his talents on the piano to continue the show, playing theme music from the film Dr. Zhivago, and a lively jazz number that set toes tapping.

Chris and Ray Johnson were a popular act with their contemporary gospel songs, and rounding out the first half of the program, Nancy Robichaud sang a Cole Porter number, then teamed up with John Miller for a musical look at relationships before and after marriage, taken from a Broadway show.

The second half of the show included performances by the HHSS Jazz Band; Track Four, a barbershop quartet made up of Rick Vaughan, Glen Carter, Ken Hadley and John Miller; a guitar duet by Darrin Griffen and Lloyd Madill; the Lochlin Sour Notes; and the Highlands Dixie Band.

Voluntary donations from the audience will be used to assist the work of the Haliburton Chapter of the Association for Children with Learning Disabilities.

"Popular music used to make you tap your toes. Now it makes you beat your head against the wall."

How nice to have nature at your back door. One recent morning, Good Friday to be exact, my phone rang at 7:30 a.m. Naturally, I wondered who might be calling me so early in the morning. It turned out to be my neighbour, Len Barry. He was excited and said, "Phyllis, there are three moose walking out your driveway." I got excited too, and rushed out in my robe and slippers. The moose had ambled out onto the roadway but I got a glimpse of them. They had apparently swam across the lake and climbed out on my shore, then up to the driveway and on their way. What a thrill.

A very happy birthday to Dale Webb who was 11 years old on April 26. We wish him lots of luck. Many happy returns to Harry Clayton who celebrated on April 29.

A rummage sale was held in the Dorset Community Centre on Monday, April 30 at 7:30 p.m., sponsored by the Dorset Pathfinders.

A very pretty wedding took place on Saturday, April 14, at Knox United Church when John Ellerington, son of Bill and Gerry Ellerington of Dorset and Esther Paulin of Toronto and Otter Lake were married, with Rev. Kim Wright officiating. The reception was held at Nordic Inn followed by a dance at the Community Centre. The happy couple will reside in Toronto.

We send best wishes to all our friends who are in or have been in hospital. They include Norm MacKay, Art Walkden, Murray McEachern and Lorraine Weatherell. A speedy recovery to one and all. I hope I haven't missed anyone.

A baby shower was held for Chris Dukoff at the Community Centre on Monday, April 20. A nice crowd attended and the mother-to-be received many lovely and useful gifts.

A group of Anglicans from the Anglican Lake of Bays Mission held study sessions on Wednesday evenings during Lent at the Rectory. To finalize the Lenten studies they held an authentic Passover supper at the Rectory which was an interesting and learning experience, taking us back to the roots of our Christian beliefs. Much study and work went into the preparation and execution of this ceremonial meal and everyone expressed their thanks and appreciation to the Rector's wife, Libby Porth, for the time and effort she exerted to make it such a success.

There was a Maundy Thursday service in the Anglican church in which members of the Anglican Lake of Bays Mission churches and the Lake of Bays Charge United Churches participated. It was a lovely service, with the ministers of both churches conducting the liturgy. Over 50 people attended.

H.H. If you have ever looked at old snapshots and wondered who, where and when, let it remind everyone, especially young people, to write on the back the date, names and place. It saves a lot of guessing in later years.

Gooderham News

By MARY HADLEY

Glamorgan Seniors met last Wednesday afternoon for their pot luck meeting. At 12:30, after Gordon Barr asked the blessing, 22 members sat down to a luncheon of a variety of casseroles and desserts.

President, Ivan Hunter, welcomed all, including some who had just recovered from illness - Violet Cooke, Hattie Ackley and Doug Hughes. In honour of St. George's Day, April 23, Dorothy Robertson had placed at each plate a cut-out red rose of England. Among other things, the English saint is remembered for slaying the dragon. Ileen Hunter, lunch convener for April, thanked her helpers. The minutes were read by the secretary, Marjorie Madill, and approved. Ivan reminded the group that, because of the time change, the following meetings would convene at 6 p.m.

Dorothy Robertson introduced the guest speaker, Army Goff, whose topic was "Heraldry". He explained the use of heraldry in ancient days and at the present time. Coats-of-arms were used by families to indicate descent but towns and cities, as well as countries, made use of them. The meanings of the elements in the coats-of-arms of Great Britain and Canada were explained. Gordon Barr pointed out that the Canadian coat-of-arms was shown on Canadian money. Several family coats-of-arms were displayed.

Ed Taylor thanked the speaker for an informative and interesting address.

After a social time the meeting adjourned.

Congratulations to Joan and Alfred Trotter on the safe arrival of their daughter, Lacey Alison, who was born on Saturday, April 21 at the Haliburton Red Cross Hospital.

Margaret Pickens has returned from a visit to her daughter, Christina and her husband, Tom Harkness, and son Jamie, in Thunder Bay. She was accompanied by her sister, June Tousignant, of Hamilton.

Grace Billings is attending presbytery at Lindsay and also visiting her sister, Reta at Fenelon Falls.

Some players have been seen already enjoying themselves at our new tennis courts near the Community Centre. This game should prove popular this summer.

Holiday visitors included the following: Max and Marion Hartin of Port Perry and Ross and Myrtle Alsop and daughter Shirley Nottingham, of Prince Albert, with Vivian and Tommy Dovell; Paul Hunter and his children, Laura and Hugh, and Sharon Hunter of Oshawa, with their mother, Mabel Hunter; Steven Bell of Toronto with his parents, Ken and Hazel Bell, as well as Hazel's sister, Eleanor Booth; Jim Hunter of Scarborough with his parents, Ileen and Ivan Hunter; Gary and Faye Dewey and daughter, Marsha, of North Bay with Gary's parents, Edith and Dan Dewey; Ruth and Robert Madill of Clinton with their parents, Violet Billings and Marjorie and Walter Madill; Adeline and Ross Hunter of Oshawa and Lawrence and Muriel Alsop with their daughter, Lynne of Whitby with parents, Evelyn and Hubert Alsop.

Among those who visited their summer homes were: Murray and Rosaline Madill of Peterborough; Donna and Bob Madill with their children, Joanne and Eddie of Peterborough; Mary and Mossom Madill of Toronto; Doug and Joanne James of Bowmanville with their three sons; Arnold Hunter and his sons, Robert and Chris, of Scarborough and Mr. and Mrs. Jackman of St. Catharines, who returned to their cottage on Troopers Lake.

Our volunteer firemen had two calls again this week. On Monday they responded to a chimney fire at Mabel Hunter's home and on Tuesday at Barr's Store for another chimney fire. However, since they carried the proper material, these were quickly put out with no damage ensuing. It is almost grass fire season again so caution here is urged.

Bingo games, sponsored by the Recreation Committee, will start on May 7 in the Community Centre and continue each Monday at 8 p.m. for the regular games. These will be preceded by an Early Bird game. On May 7 there will be a jackpot of $200.

On May 12 from 1 to 3 p.m. the Gooderham School children will help tidy up with what they call a "pitch-in". The children who participate will be given free pop and chips at the community centre.

Our township building inspector for the past few years, Weldon McPhail, has resigned his duties. He has been very helpful in many ways during his tenure. We thank him for his service and trust that he may enjoy a happy and healthful retirement. Joe Billings has been appointed building inspector in his place. We wish him well.

Welcome home to Winder Wheel Sites from Tampa to Mabel Winder.

Now that our lakes are open, the honking of the geese on their northward flight has been heard. Another welcome spring sound is the long loud laugh of the loon that several Pine Lake residents have been hearing lately.

Most of the family of Pearl and Albert Cary were home for Easter. After a week's holiday in the Barbados, Barbara and Doug Higgins of Mississauga joined the other family members. Ross and Susanne and two children of Magnetawan, Bonnie and Dave Woolley of Oshawa, and their granddaughter, Cathy, her husband, Vince, and son, Adam, of Cardiff all joined the family group.

Wilberforce News

By WINNIE SCHOFIELD

On Monday evening, April 23 a plane could be seen circling Wilberforce village at about 5:30. It was a small plane flying very low, just clearing the tree tops. Everyone became interested in its movements and wondered why the pilot continued to hover over the area. Ted and Linda Nottage tuned in on their transistor radio and heard the pilot talking to the Muskoka Tower. The pilot had no idea where he was and was asking for help in making a landing. He was told that he was over Wilberforce. He was flying too low to be in touch with other aircraft except the commercial airlines. They heard his call and relayed the message to Trenton. Trenton Search and Rescue planned to send a helicopter to help him land but heavy cloud formation prevented this. The pilot made an attempt to locate the runway at Martin's Mill but heavy cloud covered the whole area right through to Bancroft so he turned back to the one clear spot.

Meanwhile, in the village, people had gathered to watch the proceedings. The firemen were ready with their emergency truck. Shortly after six o'clock the fire alarm sounded and the men were forced to leave, taking the emergency truck with them to a burning cottage on Big Esson (Otter) Lake. The fire over, the men returned to find the plane still circling, trying to burn up fuel before making a landing. Walter Klapow brought out his bulldozer in an effort to flatten the land and clear away some of the fences. The police from Minden had arrived and blocked off the highway to provide a landing place. The plane had suffered a clipped wing from a previous attempt to land on the highway so the pilot ignored this idea. Finally at around 7:30 the plane touched down safely in Walter Clark's field much to everyone's relief.

The 29 year old pilot was Gary Insley. He had left Thunder Bay at 10:20 a.m. heading for Kingston. He had been a pilot for five years and is attached to the Thunder Bay Flying Club. He never learned to fly by instrument but has decided that it is one important thing he will learn in future.

Members of the Monmouth Curling Club held their annual banquet at Elephant Lake Lodge on Saturday, April 28. This was a friendly gathering with most of the members present. A pot luck dinner provided some very savoury dishes. Vice president, Kerry Barbour, expressed satisfaction with the club's progress and put forward a suggestion of the committee that the election of officers be held every two years instead of annually. This idea was accepted by the majority of the members. Barbour then thanked all of those who had contributed time and effort for the good of the club over the past months. He thanked Fred Berning for his excellent ice making and extended thanks to Bill and Sandy Smith for inviting the club to Elephant Lake Lodge for their banquet.

There followed a distribution of trophies. Winner for the season in the men's division was Fred Berning with his rink of Kerry Barbour, Don Fevreau and Al Langmead. Winner for the season in the mixed division was skip Fred Berning, Brenda Berning, Gail and Dan Denault. In the playoffs: winner of the men's A group was the rink of Fred Berning. Winner of the men's B group was skip Mac Gadow with his rink of Reg Schofield, Dennis Fidler, and Jim Greenwood.

Mixed playoff group A winners were the rink of skip Reg Schofield, with Carolyn and John Rogers and Joanne Olszewski. Group B was won by skip Wyatt Barnes with Kelly Linkert, Kathleen and Glen Clarke.

Members of St. Margaret's ACW held a successful rummage sale last Saturday. This was their last regular sale. There are still many useful garments left on the tables and this Saturday you will be able to bring a green garbage bag to the church and take all that the bag can hold for $1. The ACW wishes to thank all those who contributed used clothing and other articles to these sales.

In the April 18 issue of the Echo was a group picture of the Monmouth Senior Citizens. The photo was taken by Harold Herlihey, who, over the years, has provided the Township with many fine pictures; thus, preserving the history of the area.

A short but severe thunderstorm last Saturday damaged the home of Frank Saunders and that of his son-in-law, Wayne Whitefield. The telephone service was destroyed and a TV set at Whitefield's received a lightning jolt. Over 25 years ago the house of Frank Saunders was struck by lightning and burned to the ground. Haliburton Fire Department answered the call but on arriving had difficulty reaching the fire as the road was blocked by sympathetic neighbouring cars. Frank has recently returned from Peterborough where he has been hospitalized for some time.

This is the time that people are cleaning up their grounds and burning the refuse cluttering up the property. For this purpose be sure to obtain a permit for burning from fire warden Walter Klapow. Failure to do this could result in a charge being laid by the Ministry of Natural Resources. There is no charge for the permit.

On May 5 a dance is being held at Monmouth Community Centre in aid of the Agricultural Society, newly formed. Music will be by 'Six Pack'.

badly that more of us didn't go.

For the tea party Thursday afternoon the Carnarvon UCW ladies held sway. Barbara Trocevic said she was wearing an Anglican hat Saturday but she was wearing a United Church hat today. They really served a lovely lunch with all kinds of treats and sandwiches galore, and beautiful birthday cake, how could we ask for more? Thanks to them for coming with Gordon Ruttle playing the spoons, John Stewart the piano and myself the harmonica. We played lively tunes.

We would like to thank the ones who came Thursday night to call the bingo games. I'm sorry we didn't get their names.

Friday some of our residents boarded the Hyland bus again, this time to attend a nice dinner at Pinestone Inn. Then our entertainer came again Friday afternoon. Norma to play the music, Grace to lead us in our sing song. She read some humorous numbers and sang some interesting tunes.

Well readers, we hope everything with you is going all right, and don't forget to put your clocks ahead one hour Saturday night.

Just let me be a candle That God has set below. To give a little added light On roads that others go. Oh, may my weak and tiny flame My faint and feeble spark Help light the pathway of someone Who stumbles in the dark.

Oh, Would That...

Oh, would that I could tell you
The thoughts so deep in me;
Oh, would that I could help you
Their outward cause to see.

Oh, why are all the beauties,
To me so clear and bright,
From you secret and hidden
While yet within your sight.

Why, when I point a cloud to you
With patterns clear and plain,
Do you, with shrugging shoulders say,
"That means we'll have some rain."

Those flowers I see as lovely,
Which feed birds with their seed,
You note with much disdain, and say,
"But, that is just a weed."

There's music in the frog pond,
And singing in the trees;
Oh, would that I could help you
Attune yourself with these.

Lament

They have invaded the peaceful woods,
These men who seek earth's treasure,
But with their clamorous seeking, they
Have lost much more than they can measure.

All the trees came crashing noisily down,
That were so tall, so proudly fair;
My spirit weeps to see them prone,
Which were fine homes for birds of the air.

With gashing, snarling saws, they came
To cut and ravish the wild ones' home.
Where will they go to nest anew,
Who had chosen these trees for their own?

And the forest floor that shelter gave,
With fern and flowers so thickly laid;
They are torn and trampled, scooped aside.
No longer here can homes be made.

Then deep into the rock they drilled,
And the roar of blasting filled all space.
With treasure, they their trucks have filled...
But lost, lost, lost is that peaceful place.

Better Late Than Never [I Guess]

So Spring. And here you are at last,
So eagerly awaited.
Where have you been these long weeks past?
And why so much belated?

Old winter lingers on and on,
His welcome long outstaying.
By now he would have long been gone
Had you not been delaying.

By now the woods should echo shrill,
With bird song sent a-throbbin'.
Where is the call of whip-poor-will?
The song of thrush and robin?

The wildflowers should profusely grow
Bestarring every glade.
Instead there lies persistent snow
In every patch of shade.

You know, you just might blow it spring,
If you go on this way.
For summer could be burgeoning
Before you've had your day.

And we just might discover
By the time that it is fall,
That you're not worth the bother
And we don't need you at all.

So how about your best display
Of flowers, your gentle rain.
So that in gratitude we may
Give thanks for spring again.

Rain

What happens when the sun
Disappears behind a cloud,
And it starts to thunder,
(But not very loud)?

The answer is simple,
And very plain,
You probably know,
It's going to RAIN!

When Mother Cloud opens
Her gray-coloured coat,
Then out in the air
All the raindrops will float.

So if you think rain
Is a muddy disaster,
You're wrong, 'cause it helps
All the flowers grow faster!

naïve prejudice has been forced to give way to the simple truth. The latest blow involves pigeons.

I'm mindful of the illustrious history of carrier pigeons of course. But their legendary feats have always been overshadowed in my experience, by the undistinguished behaviour of their common barnyard relatives, and more brazen attitude of those massive flocks frequenting the world's tourist meccas. Now I see from a recent issue of Nature magazine that these birds, with a brain no larger than my thumb nail, have proven capable of solving truly complex problems.

The experiment was elegant in its simplicity. It involved only three items in addition to Dr. Robert Epstein and his coterie of Harvard University researchers: a banana, a box and a pigeon. Adapting the design from tests many years ago involving chimpanzees, the scientists placed a pigeon inside a closed compartment containing only a banana, suspended out of reach, and a box some distance away.

Incredible though it may seem, the pigeon, after examining the situation for some time, went over to the box, pushed it under the banana, climbed onto it and took a bite of the banana.

Now don't get hung up by the fact the pigeon was attracted to a banana, although that does seem a little odd at first glance. This episode cannot be explained away as the aberrant action of an unusual bird. Several pigeons were in fact seen to perform this feat, all of which had been individually taught beforehand to push boxes, climb on them and to bite bananas.

By MILLIE MOSS

As I write this it is 7:55 on a beautiful sunny morning. I started right into the cleanup job I've been doing the past few weeks and at last am beginning to see something for my sore muscles. It sure feels good to look out the window and see robins on a lawn turning green and with little blue and purple spring flowers in bloom. I hope all you folks who are feeling under the weather these days will very soon be on the mend.

Don't forget, on Saturday, May 19 at 9 a.m. the Kinmount Public Library will be holding a sale of both hard cover and paperback books on the main street parking lot between Dettman's and the S-1.00 store. These books were all donated but due to shelf space they will be sold and monies realized will go back into any fixtures, etc. the library may need. If you have any books you would like to donate it would be very much appreciated if you'd take them to the book drop at our library.

The Meals on Wheels is now in full swing and Ken and Joan Hyams have been very busy people indeed. The Wheels to Meals will begin Tuesday, May 8 at 1 p.m. We must know if you wish to be picked up for this date on the previous Saturday, May 5 as we are limited to thirty people to be taken to the Kinvale Inn and it will be done on a first come first served basis. This latest service to come to Kinmount is basically for folks who are seniors and alone, just home from a hospital and not really up to getting a meal ready yet, just any type of emergency such as my own when I was unable to get to my stove or cupboards on the first day Meals on Wheels was started. There is no age limit so long as it is necessary you have a meal brought in. The Wheels to Meals is different in that a driver will pick you up and take you to the Kinvale Restaurant for lunch at 1:00 p.m. and later you may have a game of cards or visit with the others. Meals on Wheels is $2 each and the Wheels to Meals is $4 each and I'm sure you will be genuinely surprised. We need lots of help so if you feel so inclined you could call Ken Hyams at 488-2032 or myself at 488-2353 and your help in any way would be greatly appreciated. One lady just yesterday said she was unable to drive at the moment but if making posters up and having them posted for us would help she'd be glad to help in that way. Terrific! We need more people to get involved so come on, get those muscles moving.

As part of the Education Week festivities coming up, Kinmount Public School takes this opportunity to cordially invite everyone and particularly our Seniors to "come to tea" on Thursday, May 3 at 1:30 p.m. at the school. Come out and let the kids entertain you. They'd love it!

Speaking of school, here's a little item that was in with Jason's homework last Thursday. It kind of caught my fancy. "People" - Some people talk and talk and never say a thing. Some people look at you and birds begin to sing. Some people laugh and laugh and yet you want to cry. Some people touch your hand and music fills the sky.

Results of the Galway Wednesday night euchre: men's high, Ken Stuart; men's low, Bob Allen, ladies' high, Mitzi Alzner; ladies' low, Ruth Menard; lone hands, Frank Franzen.

Welcome home to Eva and Keith Brodie who have been in Florida all during our lovely winter. They had to cut their five month holiday short by two weeks as Keith must enter hospital here as soon as possible for surgery. Keith spent some time, while down south, in Sun Coast Hospital and this old world being small as it is, not only was Keith a patient in that hospital, but another Norland resident, Les Thomas, spent part of his holiday there also. Get well soon, boys. Les, as I happen to know, has his Haliburton Echo delivered to him there so here's to you Leo, get well soon. You're reading what's going on back here and I hear what's going on down there. Have a swim in the pool for me.

To all you ladies who have been wondering how to make the original starter for the Friendship Cakes - I found it this past week so here it is and clip it out. I know there were a lot of you wanting it. Friendship Cake Starter: 2 cups all purpose flour, 3 tbsps. granulated sugar, 1 envelope dry yeast, 1 tsp. salt, 2 cups warm water. In a large bowl mix flour, sugar, yeast and salt; beat until smooth. Add water. Cover with a towel and set in a warm place. Stir two or three times a day for three days or until starter is bubbly and produces a yeasty aroma. Transfer to a larger bowl; cover partially. Makes about 1 1/2 cups starter. Starter should be used within 14 days and replenished or fed immediately after each use. To feed starter, stir in 1 cup all purpose flour, 1 cup milk, and 1/2 cup granulated sugar. Wait at least 24 hours before using. Starter can be frozen.

There was a good turnout at church Easter Sunday.

The Civic Action Committee still need lots of help towards making our Bicentennial a truly a time to remember. If you have crafts you'd like to show and share with others or if you'd spend a little time in working on your crafts as people watch, that would be terrific. Give Ken Hyams a call at 488-2032. Ken and Joan also have lots of the Bicentennial buttons if you'd like to buy one. They're $1 each. There's a beautiful book also on sale for this very special occasion and it depicts our area past and present and thanks go out to all who helped in any way with this book. Any new ideas you may have towards our big time or if you wish to enter into the festivities in any way, please give Guy Scott a call at 488-2226 or 488-2211.

Don't forget to enter the Logo Contest! It can be Kinmount's past or present or a combination of the two. All entries must be in at Dettman's Store on Hwy. 121 across from the P.O. by April 30 for judging. Open to everyone so why not try your luck at winning the $50 prize? The winning logo may possibly find its way onto the future T-shirts.

Well folks stay well and happy, read the Echo and remember - nothing's wrong with the younger generation the older generation didn't outgrow.

Expert suggests ways to 'baby proof' home for safety

By KIMBERLEY J. RODDICK, Infant Development Consultant

Children are curious about everything and all senses are used constantly during their busy day. You have to think ahead, to stay one jump ahead of your child's abilities. They want to taste, smell, touch, see and listen to everything.

The child who is encouraged to find out about different things in order to satisfy his curiosity becomes more sure of himself in trying new things as he grows older. When a young child listens daily to "No, no", "Stop that", "Don't touch that", "Shut up and be quiet" in addition to spanking, he begins to doubt himself and feels "I can't do anything right; Momma won't let me do what I want to do, so I won't try anything".

Your home should be an exciting, safe environment for your child to explore. By taking a few simple yet necessary precautions, this can easily be arranged:

1. Favourite ashtrays, vases, bowls and other ornaments are removed or completely out of reach;
2. Detergents, bleach, cleaning fluids, sprays and disinfectants are kept locked in a cabinet;
3. When you are cooking, handles on pots and pans should be turned towards the back of the stove;
4. Electric outlets that are not always used should be covered.
5. Don't keep medicines (even oral contraceptives) in the room just to remind you to take them; write yourself a note instead;
6. Never leave an iron on the ironing board, even while you run to answer the phone;
7. Tea or coffee can scald a child even if it is not boiling. Don't leave your cup within the child's reach, or on a high table with a cloth;

8. Don't let a child use an electric blanket. A wet bed or a spilt drink can make it dangerous;

9. Garden sheds and garages must be kept locked. Even so, the really dangerous things like insect sprays, weed-killers, kerosene and stripping agents should be kept in locked cupboards, in case you leave the door open "just for a minute";

Did you know

By BAMBI GILDER

Did you know...that the Ontario Women's Directorate offers a booklet entitled "Job Search" which has been prepared for women who are planning to enter the workforce for the first time or return to the workforce after an extended absence? Whatever your reasons for seeking a job, you will need a plan of action that will involve taking a series of steps. The purpose of this booklet is to help you work through these steps that will meet your own individual needs. It provides information on self-assessment, family adjustments, training opportunities, job offers and examples of standard application forms, resume and interviews.

To obtain this booklet and more information regarding this and many other subjects, why not drop in or give us a call at 457-2733. Your County Information Centre is located in the Drag River Municipal Building (across from Emerson Lumber) in Haliburton, and we are open Monday through Friday, 10:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m.

And remember, you will never know the answer until you ask the question.

Board of Education minutes

Wells Robertson was appointed to the Minor Headship of the Geography Department, Haliburton Highlands Secondary School for the 1984-85 school year, during the leave of absence of Carl Wallace.

Minutes of the March meeting of the Haliburton County Board of Education were accepted as printed.

Gary Noonan will be offered a Permanent Teaching Contract, effective September, 1984, to teach the Trainable Retarded Class at the Senior Elementary School.

Laura Aymong was granted a leave of absence from September 1, 1984 to June 30, 1985 and will be allowed to return to the teaching staff of the Haliburton Highlands Secondary School in September, 1985.

The Board granted Linda Romanick one year's maternity leave, commencing June 30, 1984.

The Haliburton County Board of Education approved the use of the newly acquired novels in the Haliburton Highlands Senior Elementary School Library, as attached.

A request for a field trip involving three days and two nights at Niagara Falls for students from Archie Stouffer Elementary School, was approved.

The Board accepted the report on Special Education to the Ministry of Education.

A request for the Grade 8 Option Band for a concert tour of Peterborough, Chesterville and Ottawa, leaving Haliburton on June 28th, and returning on June 30, 1984, was approved.

The Director of Education was instructed to write a letter to the Minister of Education, Dr. Bette Stephenson, asking that Haliburton County be considered under the proposed assistance for isolated secondary schools, north of the French River. The members of the Board feel all the criteria is met in The Response of the Ministry of Education to the Report of the Commission of Inquiry Regarding Small Secondary Schools in Northern Ontario, except the geographical one - being north of the French River.

The Chairman of the Board, Bonnie-Lee Berry, reported on her attendance at an Affirmative Action Conference held in Toronto on March 29 and 30, 1984. The conference was established by the Minister of Education, Dr. Bette Stephenson and the theme was - Focus on Leadership. Berry attended as the employer representative and Ruth Gorrie attended as the Board's employee representative.

Berry stated that the definition of affirmative action is a set of strategies initiated by an employer to give women the same opportunities in the labour marketplace as men; to eliminate job ghettos; to encourage women to go into non-traditional jobs; to increase their number in management. Affirmative Action is not the same as equal opportunity, which is the end result of an effective affirmative action programme.

There were 15 group sessions which zeroed in on the three main elements of affirmative action; a) attitude; b) action plans; c) personnel.

With regard to students in Haliburton County the Board needs to continue the type of activity which Dr. Blair Pierce initiated when he called for the Board to examine our textbooks and materials to screen them for sex role stereotyping and sexist intent, Berry said.

With regard to staff the Haliburton County Board is an equal opportunity employer, but perhaps now would be a good time to re-affirm that positions of responsibility are always open equally to men and women, Berry said. She said the Board should strive to encourage men and women to improve their qualifications in order to be prepared for upcoming job openings. At the present time four of our eight principals are women.

The meeting adjourned at 10:29 p.m.

Doris McCann, our guest speaker, spoke on the development of our organization, the success of the present programs and the future direction of services for the elderly. Doris is impressed with the caring volunteers of the county.

Our thanks to the musicians for the lively music, Mr. and Mrs. Al Smith, Mrs. Thelma Watson, Sinclair Russell, Harold Brodhagen, and Sonny Pacey. Thanks to Vi Smith for getting everyone involved in Euchre and Bridge.

CAR CARE GUIDE

Spring tune up means economy

Engine tune-up often is included as part of seasonal service. Here are answers to some of the most common questions about this vital aspect of preventive maintenance.

Q. What is a tune-up?

A. Technically, it is the service of restoring the engine to the car manufacturer's specifications, or as close as possible. This usually involves replacement and/or adjustment, as needed, of parts that affect the engine's performance.

Q. Can I do it myself?

A. If your engine is a fairly simple one, if you have the basic tools and testers, if you have some mechanical savvy and if you are willing to do a bit of reading on the subject (there are lots of good books in the stores and in your library), you should be able to do it yourself.

Q. And if I opt to get it done by a professional?

A. Seek out a well-trained and equipped mechanic. If your car needs a tune-up, the return on investment in a professional job can amount to as much as two gallons of gas per tankful.

Q. How often should I get a tune-up?

A. For best performance and economy make tune-up an annual habit or at least as often as specified in the owner's manual.

Newer cars equipped with electronic ignition have longer service intervals which vary from make to make. While these engines have no distributor points or condenser, there are still spark plugs, wires, filters, distributor cap and rotor which may need periodic replacement.

If you're driving an older model car which has a conventional ignition system with points and a condenser have the engine checked at intervals of 6,000 miles and a tune-up every 10,000-15,000 miles. After that mileage, these engines become prone to misfiring under heavy load or acceleration.

Q. What parts would my mechanic normally check or replace?

A. It depends on your car, how long it has been since your last tune-up and, of course, the condition of the engine. Here's what you can expect in a complete tune-up.

1) Spark plugs. They should be replaced in sets. If one is misfiring or in borderline condition, they're all likely to be in similar shape.

2) Distributor points, condenser, rotor and possibly distributor cap. If your car has electronic ignition, points and condenser won't be part of your tune-up.

3) The PCV (positive crankcase ventilation) valve. It's part of the emission-control system. If it becomes clogged, you'll have a rough-running engine at low speeds and idle.

4) The PCV filter. This is a little filter, usually found inside the air filter housing, that keeps dirt from entering the crankcase.

5) The air filter. Your engine breathes air. But when this filter becomes clogged with dirt, the restriction can choke off the air to a point where gas mileage and performance are seriously affected. This condition also adds to exhaust emissions.

6) The fuel filter. It's an often-overlooked part of the fuel system that can bring your engine to a halt when it gets filled with contaminants from the gas tank.

7) The ignition system wires. These are the wires running from the coil to the distributor and to the spark plugs. This is especially important on newer cars, where high under-the-hood temperatures due to emission controls cause more rapid deterioration of the wires.

8) E.G.R. system. If your car is equipped with an E.G.R. (exhaust gas recirculation) system, which is part of the emission-control system, it should be checked and serviced as needed.

9) Vacuum hoses. Leaking or disconnected vacuum hoses can cause rough idle, sluggish performance and increased emission levels.

10) Carburetor choke. A sticking choke can cause hard starting and contribute to poor fuel economy.

Q. What adjustments are made?

A. In addition to the proper adjustment of the parts that are installed, the ignition timing is set plus settings are needed on the automatic choke and carburetor.

Q. What else is included in a tune-up?

A. A good tune-up should include cleaning and checking the battery and cables, starting and charging systems. Although other under-the-hood checks such as hoses, belts and fluids are not necessarily included as part of a tune-up, it is wise to request these services plus, possibly, oil and filter change and transmission service while the car is in the shop.

Now that the snow is gone, it's time to put away those snow tires and install a set of summer rubber. Eric Edwards of Shamrock Shell in Haliburton has the equipment to do the job, as well as an extensive selection of tires for all types of cars and pickups.

Preventive maintenance saves

Cottage weather is around the corner, and motorists will soon be taking to the highways for weekend vacations and pleasure driving. The Ontario Safety League is asking all motorists to use a little preventive maintenance. It makes good economic sense.

Many drivers wait until something goes wrong before they get it fixed. They'll put up with a defective exhaust system, wipers that don't perform properly or weak battery that is unreliable and then be terribly upset when these components let them down far from home. This is called "breakdown maintenance". Economically, it is the same as health care -- preventive medicine is usually much less expensive than corrective surgery!

Motorists should also be aware that an engine tune-up is the single most important maintenance factor for fuel economy. Ignition and carburetion systems must operate at peak efficiency for good mileage. Tune-ups are particularly critical for today's cars to obtain optimum economy and still keep emissions at the required low level.

Bob Parker of Stan's Texaco in Haliburton installs new transmission fluid in a pickup truck. Transmission fluid should be drained and replaced regularly to prolong the transmission's life and ensure that it shifts smoothly.

Dave Lester of Minden Shell Service works on the rear brakes of a car. Brakes should be checked regularly and replaced when they show signs of excessive wear. This job is best carried out by local mechanics, who have the right tools and the skills to do the work correctly.

Doug Ripley of Haliburton Truck Service reaches for a wrench as he works on the engine of a heavy truck. Big trucks need careful maintenance if they are to operate efficiently and safely, and at Haliburton Truck Service, specially trained mechanics are always ready to carry out needed repairs.

Gary Burk of Elstone Motors in Haliburton tightens a newly installed belt. Broken fan belts mean an overheated engine, while worn belts can reduce cooling and battery recharging efficiency.

A well tuned car saves you money from page 21 Not only will a well-tuned car give better fuel economy but a proper tune up and a complete check of the car's system will ensure it is safe for your spring and summer trips.

Choosing the proper oil a matter of knowledge

Motor oil performs much the same function in your car as blood does in your body. Both use four or five quarts of the fluid to carry potentially dangerous by-products away from essential operating parts.

And, just as blood types vary, there are different kinds of motor oils. But, rather than "O-positive" and "B-negative", motor oil varieties are given letter and number designations to indicate quality and ability to stand up to extreme heat and cold.

Knowing what the descriptions on a motor oil container mean can help you choose the best product for your car and your kind of driving.

SAE, one of the most common elements on an oil can label, stands for Society of Automotive Engineers. They set standards for viscosity.

Viscosity refers to the thickness of oil. It affects engine wear, oil consumption and the ability to start an engine in cold weather. The climate in which a vehicle is driven and the type of driving done helps to determine what viscosity is best for your car.

There are seven viscosity grades. The ones with a "W" following numbers like 5, 10 and 20 are recommended for cold-weather driving. For example, 10W-weight oil would be good for cars driven in places where winter temperatures plunge to -10 degrees Fahrenheit.

Combining the thin, 10W-viscosity oil with 30-weight produces a multiweight oil that provides good cold-weather starts as well as tough engine protection once the engine is hot.

On the other end of the scale are 50-weight "racing" oils that are specially formulated to withstand the extreme heat generated by high-revving engines. It is a very thick oil that coats and protects engine parts even at extremely high temperatures where other oils might thin out and not provide adequate engine lubrication.

Some oils meet only certain car manufacturers' requirements for oil quality, but others meet or exceed all car manufacturers' warranty specifications.

To tell if the oil you are looking at meets your vehicle manufacturers' requirements, the American Petroleum Institute has set up standards that use different letter combinations. "S" series oils are for gasoline engines.

API designation "SF" means the oil meets the lubricating needs of all cars powered by gasoline engines built in the 1980s. "SE" indicates the oil is recommended for cars built from 1972-1980. For cars built from 1968-71, look for "SD" on top of oil cans. "SC" is the designation for vehicles built between 1964 and 1967.

"SA" classification oils should only be used for vehicles that require oils with no additives and are driven under mild conditions in mild weather.

"SB" oils are another type for old cars. "SB" oils were formulated in the '30s and should only be used for gasoline engines operating under mild conditions in summer temperatures.

The "C" series of API classifications are for diesel engines. Again, the higher up the alphabet the second letter is, the more modern the oil.

"CA" oils are for mild-duty engines. "CB" is for mild to moderate-duty lubrication. "CC" meets the needs of lightly supercharged diesel engines. The "CD" specification is for severe-service supercharged diesel engines of the 1980s.

Some specialty oils, like diesel/turbo motor oil, meet the needs of both gasoline and diesel-powered engines. These oils are rated for "SF", "SE" and "CC" use by the American Petroleum Institute.

So, if your car is a 1980 Chevette, you know that you need a lubricant that meets API's SF standard. If the temperature may still get down below zero in your region during the next few months, you'll need an oil of 10W viscosity.

And, if you are looking for a "gas-saving oil" look for straight 30-weight, 5W-30 or 10W-30 weight oil.

Now that you've determined the correct kind of oil in the right viscosity for the weather and for the way you drive, you'll know for sure that your car's "lifeblood" is meeting all your engine's needs for lubricating, cooling and creating a seal between piston rings and cylinder walls.

Short trips can be hard on vehicles

Although people may be driving less this year, this does not necessarily mean that vehicle maintenance can be reduced.

Some components actually deteriorate faster in short-run operation and these can be particularly vulnerable to the ravages of cold-weather driving.

Engine oil is contaminated more quickly in cars subjected to short runs and stop-and-go driving, especially in winter. As a result, these

No car maintenance free

As automotive technology change advances, the nature of preventive maintenance changes. But it doesn't go away. Ignition points and condenser, once basic parts of the tune-up, are disappearing from the automotive scene, while new components come on the scene.

Key factors in a tune-up continue to be spark plugs, distributor cap, rotor and ignition wiring. Necessary adjustments of ignition timing, carburetor and choke still are essential to a pre-winter tune-up of the engine, as is attention to the PCV valve, fuel and air filter.

According to industry reports, our nation's cars are in the worst shape ever. Average age of an automobile is at an all-time high of 6.6 years. Meanwhile, because money has been tight and recent winters have been unseasonably mild, many motorists have found it easy to postpone routine maintenance.

Additionally, there is a misconception among some car owners that engines with electronic ignition are virtually maintenance free; that there is not need for a tune-up because of extended service intervals.

For thousands of negligent car owners this could mean inconvenience, lost time and added expense.

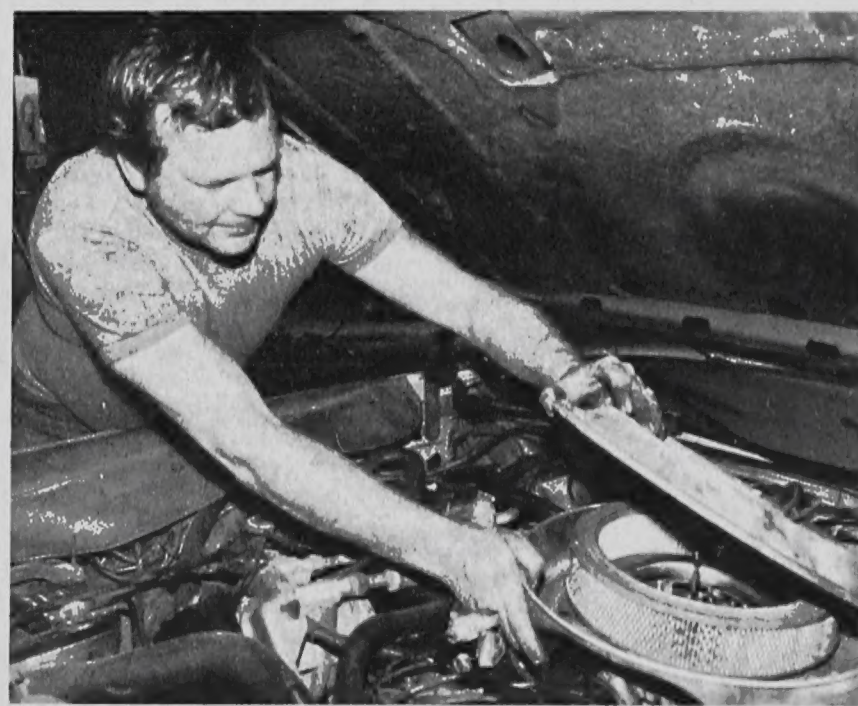

Beyond this an engine that needs a tune-up uses an average of 11% more gas than it would when performing up to par. This percentage increases with smaller engines. One misfiring spark plug out of four has a more noticeable effect on performance than one out of six or eight.

Darrel Gilbert and George Crofts of Highlands Supply in Minden discuss one of a large selection of parts and accessories on hand at the outlet, which caters to do-it-yourself vehicle owners as well as to area garages.

Bruce Bounsall of Haliburton Auto Body sprays Rust Check on a car that has been repaired and refinished in the company's shop. Rust Check can extend the life of any car, new or used, and is recommended by the Canadian Automobile Association.

Russ Paul of 121 Auto Service checks the air cleaner of a vehicle as part of a spring maintenance program. A dirty air cleaner starves a vehicle of the air needed for proper combustion of fuel, and can substantially reduce gas mileage.

Proper pressure in tires is crucial for safety

The summer season brings with it warm temperatures and a need for motorists to keep a watchful eye on their tire pressures.

Short trips

cars should have more frequent oil and filter changes than cars that are driven regularly.

Exhaust systems suffer from limited driving too. Condensation accumulating in a muffler accelerates the rusting process, especially when the temperature drops.

Also prone to deterioration from the elements, whether or not the car is running, are windshield wiper blades - another off-forgotten component that should always be checked as part of a pre-winter preventative maintenance program.

Seasonal temperature changes can dramatically alter tire pressures. Low tire pressures cause tire sidewalls to sag and flex, causing a heat buildup and possible premature failure. Unusual wear on the tire tread shoulders also occurs.

Over-inflated tire pressures cause sidewalls to stretch and abnormal centre tread wear results.

Proper tire pressure often ensures tires last as long or longer than manufacturers' suggested tire life.

Always use a pressure gauge. Gas station pressure settings can be incorrect. At the same time, inspect tire tread and sidewalls for nails, unusual wear or cracks as a safety precaution.

Change plugs often

A spark plug may look good to the casual observer after 15,000, 20,000 or even 30,000 miles.

So why change plugs after 10,000 miles of use in your family car?

There's a good reason according to the experts. The 10,000 mile change recommendation is not actually based on the fact that spark plugs are "worn out" in the strictest sense after 10,000 miles of service.

This figure - selected after extensive spark plug life tests - merely represents a safety factor beyond which plugs may misfire under the sudden demands of peak acceleration or extremely heavy load.

Gas Economy Drop

It also represents the point at which gas economy begins to drop. In addition, the car is harder to start, and power is lost in passing.

A spark plug is considered worn out when it reaches the point where it is likely to misfire - regardless of its appearance. And, contrary to popular opinion, misfiring doesn't necessarily mean the plug didn't create a spark. It means simply that the plug failed to ignite the gasoline properly - whether a spark was produced or not!

A new spark plug with the correct gap setting needs about 5,000 volts to fire. However, as the plug remains in service, constant heat and chemical attack plus electrical erosion cause the gap to become wider, thus increasing the amount of voltage to fire the plug.

Gap Gets Wider

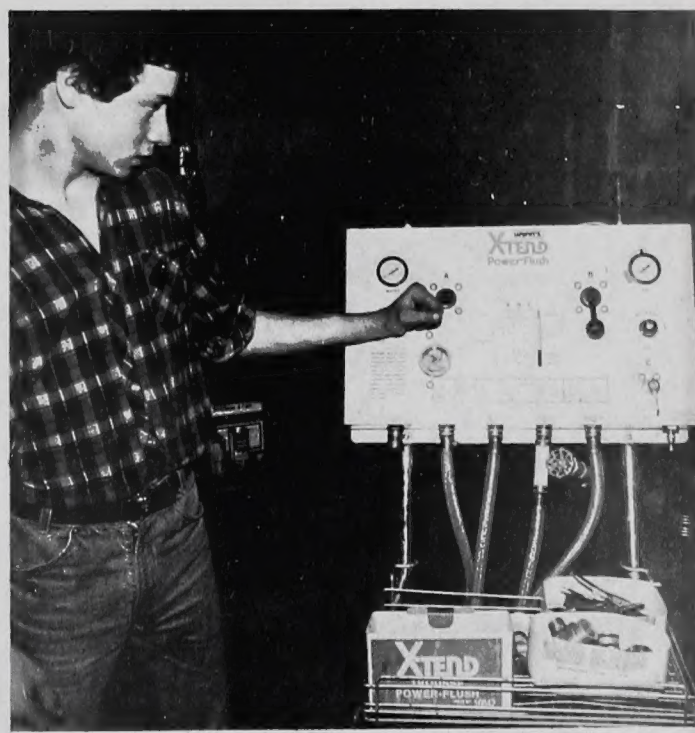

Spark plug gap growth occurs at a rate of about .001 inch for each 1,000 miles of driving. Consequently, a set of plugs that has been in service for 10,000 miles generally will have gaps that are about .010 inch wider than the original settings and higher voltage is needed to make them spark.

And, this is only for normal driving. Operating the engine at very high speed can decrease the amount of coil voltage available to fire the spark plugs by 30 to 40 percent! Accelerating to pass on a highway may practically double the voltage burden on the spark plug.

Needs More Voltage

That's why misfiring is first noticed while accelerating because it's here that the plugs actually can require more voltage to produce a spark than the ignition system is capable of producing - especially if the plugs are badly worn.

Remember, as plugs remain in service, more voltage is needed to make them spark. As the ignition system ages, its ability to produce high voltage lessens.

Will Duncan of Bennett Motors in Haliburton operates a power flushing system that can clean a vehicle's cooling system of rust and accumulated debris. Proper cooling is essential for efficient operation of an engine, and corroded cooling passages can cause overheating that will ruin an engine in a matter of minutes. A cooling system check should be part of every vehicle owner's spring car care plans.
